Five Killed, 137 Hurt As Fire, Explosion Raze Reno Buildings

By EDWARD A. OLSEN

RENO, Nev., Aug. 15 (AP)—Fire and explosion killed five—possibly six—men today and led to injury of 137 persons—many in the trampling of panic-stricken spectators pushing away from the sudden blast.

Five bodies were taken from the smoldering ruins of Commercial building in the old business district where fire broke out in mid-morning. A sixth man is missing and believed dead.

What caused the fire and the explosion was not determined. The blaze itself was a relatively minor one. But the blast blew out a wall of the Commercial building housing shops, a cafe and rooming house. It shot a slot machine across the street.

Soviet Teacher Remains Under U. S. Protection

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (P)—An obscure Russian teacher, who said the chance of death rather than return to her homeland, remained under full protection of the United States government today after the State department had rejected Soviet demands for her custody.

The 32-year-old teacher, Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina, is recovering at Roosevelt hospital from serious injuries suffered in a dramatic three-story leap from the Soviet consulate here. She said she had been held a prisoner there pending forcible return to Russia.

Her story touched off a top-level diplomatic dispute which began with a protest from the consulate, spread to the Russian foreign minister, and then to the State department.

Navy Officer 'Framed' By Reds, U. S. Claims

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The State department charged today that Russian authorities actually framed up an espionage case against Lt. Robert Dreher whom the Moscow press and radio accused of serving as an American spy.

The American version of the latest bizarre development in Soviet-American relations, was given out by Michael J. McDermott, State department press officer. It differed in virtually all major respects from the Russian account.

Dreher himself, reached by a reporter tonight, only said: "I can't talk. It's up to Navy public relations." Dreher is 32 and lives in Oil City, Pa.

McDermott said that the evidence against the 32-year-old naval lieutenant was "generally planted." Soviet authorities, using the powerful Russian secret police, MVD, after he had applied for a Soviet exit visa to leave the country.

THE RUSSIAN STORY is that Dreher was caught receiving secret information from a Russian described as an American agent, that Dreher confessed, and that he was transferred from Russia by his superiors at Soviet demand.

Officials speculated that the Russians framed the young naval officer to get evidence against a future need.

That time is now, they reason, and Moscow is making publicity capital out of the incident four months later to offset a possible prestige loss in the current furor over two Russian teachers in America who are dodging.

Babe Ruth Improves, Slips Up for 20 Minutes

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (P)—Babe Ruth, although still on the critical list, left his bed at a New York City hospital today for 20 minutes and sat in a chair while relatives and close friends visited him.

In what was described by the hospital as a "comfortable day" for baseball's great ex-sluggo, Ruth apparently made new gains in his fight for life.

A bulletin issued at 8 p. m. tonight from Memorial Hospital Center for Cancer and Allied Diseases said:

"Babe Ruth's temperature is lower than yesterday. He has had a comfortable day and is taking a little more nourishment. His condition remains critical."

THE WEATHER

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Mostly sunny and moderately warm today. Generally fair and a little more humid tomorrow.

The erection of a monument is superfluous; the memory of us will last if we have deserved it in our lives.
—Pliny the Younger.

The Fun of Pulling Weeds

THE ragweed pullers are not out for the fun of the thing, they are bent on alleviating hay fever, but there is fun in pulling weeds, in moderation, and they might as well have it.

Weed-pulling is amusing because it shows up so much. A tug, a snip, a blade out here and there, and in no time at all you have cut a wide swath. The sense of accomplishment is considerable. If you, like many others, are a person who is going to be entertained by a sense of accomplishment for only just so long, you can introduce variations such as are more often done with lawn mowers. You can pull along an advancing front, or you can outline a square, a circle or a triangle and dissect them with cater-corners, radii and hypotenuses. There are so many possibilities for variations that to come anywhere near exhausting them you would have to be working with a piece of ground the size of Manhattan Park.

Another entertaining thing about pulling weeds is that it is a naturally reflective occupation. Nobody is going to be pulling weeds very long before he becomes ruminative. He feels that there is more than enough time on hand for whatever he is likely to have to do. His repose can be made elegantly torpid by chewing on a sprig of grass or tickling his ear or the back of his neck with it. Fewer weeds get pulled in this than in any other way, probably, but it's fun.

We hope the ragweed pullers will get all these kinds of fun out of it, and more. We further hope they will have the same luck with it that Tom Sawyer had in whitewashing a certain fence, and that somebody else will decide it's too much fun to miss, and take it over.

How Does Your Garden Grow?

"Tell me," said Sancho Panza in Don Quixote, "what thou hast sown today and I will tell thee what thou shalt reap tomorrow."

Obviously!

The world has for us just about what we have for it. We cannot expect to take more out than we put in.

Here is a great truth rarely apprehended by the foolish of this world who think they can reap happiness where they sowed misery, and gather peace where they scattered warfare.

The laws of mental and spiritual harvests are as inviolable as those of the field and forest.

If it is not possible to set out corn and gather in wheat, by what process of reasoning do we sow the wind and expect to reap a gentle breeze?

Yet men and women persistently plant hatred and expect good will, plant grief and expect joy, plant self-interest and expect friendship.

We bring upon ourselves the fruit of our thought, and if there is venom in the seed there will be bitterness in the meat. That's the dark side.

But there's a bright side. If like produces like, and we inevitably gather the fruit of our thinking, then nobody needs remain the way he is. There is transformation waiting in the renewal of his mind.

Change your mind and automatically you change your "fate." For every seed thought sown in the mind must reproduce its kind!

Compleat Angler — Movie Style
THE movie colony, as everybody knows, does things differently. But we never cease being surprised at just how differently. In the current Harper's, Cleveland Amory tells of a new wrinkle in fishing, developed by Hollywood weekenders at Palm Springs.

Film actors and executives want the pleasure of a little fishing, but it must not tax their energy or time. So sizeable trout are brought to Palm Springs in aerated tanks and deposited in a small pool at the edge of the hotel lawn. Guests come to the pool in dinner jackets, take a prepared fly and hook a trout. A uniformed attendant removes the unhappy fish, which presently is served to the proud angler in the dining room—the reward of the diner's skill at a difficult sport.

A plan of such obvious merits should be extended to other fields. The Hollywood hunter, for example, could eat squirrels shot in a cage in the kitchen, or quail flushed to the end of a tether.

Grampaw Oakley

Editor, The Mercury,
Dear Sir 'n' Brother:

Wal, I see by the papers where an inventor says he thought up a vessel that will take one to the moon, but can't bring its passenger back. If it works, it will be one device that is out of this world—and for keeps!

In Indiana two filling station bandits made their successful getaway riding double on a bicycle. The cops in that town must be equipped with rollerskates!

And say: Out of ten Olympic 200-meter races run so far, the US had won eight. What happened to the other two?

Hop! you air the same, GRAMPAW NED OAKLEY.

'Christmas Parker' May Have Suit Against Police

Whose Fault?

To the Editor: Someone seems to be trying to save face in the case of this driver who left his car parked in front of his house for Lord knows how long.

As soon as you print a chief in The Mercury of this car, the chief's police goes to work to find out what it's all about. And according to your news article, the owner will be called before the burgess.

What I wonder is this: Isn't it just as much an offense for the police to be negligent in enforcing the law as it is for this man to keep his car out on the street for months in one place?

If I were this car owner and had to pay a fine because of this, I would place a charge against the police chief for negligence of duty.

The Wrong Plant

to the Editor: Driver ("Pushing Him Out of Job," Readers Say, Aug. 15) has got the wrong slant on this milk price situation just because he happens to work for a dairy.

Farmers and cattle raisers can stop killing their steers and hogs, but they can't stop milking their cows. If they don't get the "right" price for their milk, maybe they'll make butter out of it.

So, what will happen? The market will be glutted with butter and the price will come down. Then we'll be able to buy butter again at less than 90 cents a pound and won't have to eat oleo.

Maybe the farmers will sell their milk in New York or some other state. That will go on for so long until those milk markets are glutted, pushing down the price to that of Pennsylvania.

Then the farmers will come to us, wanting us to buy their milk—at our price.

Just because you happen to be caught in the middle, Driver, is no reason why the other 99 percent of us should pay these outrageous prices.

Progress Not Vocal

To the Editor: "Any way you look at it, an up-to-date machine is a lot more dependable than a human being." That's what Progressive wrote after defending the automatic gates to be put on the Pennsy crossing on Hanover street.

He is wrong in general. The biggest curse we have are nice up-to-date machines, like the atom bomb.

He is wrong in particular. Or does he imagine the fancy electric gates will talk to little children, as "superannuated" watchmen do, and warn them not to slip around the gates when trains are coming?

Does Progressive think these mighty new improvements will know the difference between a switcher stuck endlessly on the tracks and a flying freight?

Did he ever stop to think why the new gates have arms that reach only halfway across the street? It's because switchers and stray locomotives are just bound to get the gates stuck down for long, long periods, and there has to be room for cars to get around—if they can do it in the afternoon traffic rush.

It's a good thing the Pennsy finally agreed to put warning lights on the road. But our "up-to-date" borough fathers should have insisted on this months ago, and not be "traded" into the automatic gates deal.

Favors 'Pay as You Enter'

To the Editor: It seems to me that Memorial hospital has struck upon a good thing in considering the advance payment plan for patients.

When we go into a movie, we pay at the door on the way in, don't we? Whether it's services or entertainment, it is all the same.

That would keep some of the cheap-skates, who can afford it, from "jumping" their hospital bills. Then maybe the hospital costs for everyone will go down and those of us who do pay won't have to pay the way for the others.

What Will Housewives Do?

To the Editor: The first shots in our political life have been fired and we the plain public will get the smell of that powder in the near future. The nerve of the Republican leaders is much greater today than before the last election. They claim they have the mandate of the American people.

The housing situation is getting worse every day. The cost of living is higher and higher every day. The savings of the public are lower and lower every day. I'm wondering what the American housewives will do on election day when they look into their food basket at what they are getting today for their $10 and think of what they used to get two years ago, before the mandate was given to the Republican leaders (as they claim).

I wonder what the housewives will do?

What Canine Expect?

To the Editor: You do a lot of griping about borough council not doing anything.

These aren't election days. They're dog days.

And what can you expect from our elected officials in this hot weather? Not a doggone thing!

WASHINGTON

Taft-Hartley Act Repeal Seems Far-off Possibility

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Both Republican and Democratic primary results so far hold out small chance that the next Congress will repeal the Taft-Hartley Act, regardless of the identity of the man who occupies the White House for the next four years.

Labor has done well in spots, but it does not seem able to change the complexion of House and Senate sufficiently to wipe out the statute or modify its fundamental provisions.

A Dewey sweep, which would tend to reinforce conservative Congressional candidates for both bodies, would minimize even more the prospect of getting rid of this act. It is for this reason that organized labor, albeit lukewarmly, will trend toward President Truman, even though the New York governor banned enactment of a similar measure in his state.

In fact, there is a possibility that Mr. Dewey, if elected, would seek the advice of both labor and industry leaders in an attempt to make the Taft-Hartley Act a compromise more palatable to both interests, and thus obtain more or less permanent industrial peace. It was his senator, Irvin Ives, who successfully fought the reactionary faction's efforts to make the law even more rigorous than it is now in labor's eyes.

LABOR: Labor politicians are now balancing up their latest accounts on the basis of the recent primaries in Alben W. Barkley's state of Kentucky and "Ed" Crump's Tennessee balliwack.

These areas furnish a fairly good test because, both commonwealths, once regarded as anti-labor, have been organized by the American Federation of Labor, John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers and the C.I.O., with the latter organization in the minority.

Battered Boss Crump admits that he was defeated by the labor turnout for his opposition, Senate-Nominee Estes Kefauver, in Memphis. In other years Mr. Crump's personally conducted majority in that city had always been sufficient to overcome hostile votes in other sections of Tennessee. The industrialization of the valley resulting from T.V.A. power also operated against him.

Thus William Green's men of Memphis, Roosevelt-Truman-Lillenthal T.V.A.ers and John Lewis's coal miners finished Mr. Crump, at least temporarily.

COMFORT: It was a different story, however, across the line in Mr. Barkley's Blue Grass Country. And the unpublishing reasons for labor's setback here may not make the workers feel any too kindly toward the Truman-Barkley ticket.

The unions, especially the miners, supported John Young Brown in the Democratic senatorial primary against Virgil Chapman, a veteran member of the House. The latter had voted for the Taft-Hartley Act, and for enactment over President Truman's veto. He is generally regarded as extremely conservative.

Mr. Brown once served as counsel for the United Mine Workers in that area, and he favored repeal of the T-H Law. Although defeated by approximately 13,000 votes, he polled a larger total than he has done in his perennial attempts, more debatable Truman-Dewey territory than both Democratic and Republican politicians had expected. Despite their Democratic tendencies, there had been general expectation that they would go Republican by a slight margin.

Labor is also wondering why President Truman did not extend a hand to Mr. Kefauver in Tennessee and to Mr. Brown in the land of beauties, women, horses and bourbon, or vice versa.

Muddled as this political picture in the border country seems to be, the Kefauver victory and Mr. Brown's surprisingly large vote make these states far

The Voice of Broadway

Reverie on Broadway

WHOEVER WAS responsible for abolishing the open-topped Fifth Ave. buses ought to be sentenced to ride five o'clock subways forever in the Summertime.

The clothing on the giant and glances in the new Broadway sign looks like neon spaghetti.

Jane Froman is an exquisite beauty and an extraordinarily courageous character, but her voice, to me, always sounds packed in ice.

I've never seen whiter skin than Fannie Hurst's, but never had nerve enough to ask her what she put on it.

If anything...

My award for the most irritating quote of the week goes to Jed Harris for his "When I've finished my work for the new season I'd like to go to Israel and become a citizen and give up my American citizenship. I want to have a country of my own." Nothing like being practical, is there? No matter how hot the fervor for the finer life, don't dash off before you've nailed down those royalties.

I WISH those intellectual French cults didn't spring up in such rapid succession; just when I'm getting chummy with existentialism, they toss "resistance" at me, and another struggle is on.

I love to stand on the side street sidewalks in the forties when the theatres are breaking at intermission-time and listen to the between-act comment. At the big hit "A Streetcar Named Desire," the curbstone reviews range from "marvelous" to "I don't see what's supposed to be so hot about this." But at the town's other smash success, "Mr. Roberts," I've never eavesdropped on anything more lukewarm than "wonderful."

SHERMAN BILLINGSLEY all but lost his head when he decided to enlarge the Shark Club's cocktails; the old-fashioned glasses would make comfortable homes for large families of gold-fish.

I wonder if Claudette Colbert ever gets a run in her stockings or pops a strap on her slip. She always looks as if those things couldn't possibly happen to her.

I wish some genius would invent an alarm clock that would say "Dorothy dear... Dorothy dear..."

There must be a reason why the first aspirin always goes down easily, but the second makes me choke. The greatest of all night club trademarks are El Morocco's zebra stripes. Wonder if the late Vernon MacFarlane, who put them there originally, knew he was leaving a hole, as well as decorative, they would be?

I'd love to know the name of the magic preparation Esther Williams puts on her hair when she swims in those Technicolor pools in the MGM musicals—the stuff that makes it possible for her to dive, crawl, and make love under water without losing her wave or acquiring one stray lock.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

WHEN DAVID, our youngest child, was 2 years old, he happened to bump his head in the kitchen. I could hear the thump from where I was sitting at my typewriter.

Then he began to wail loudly. He went to his mother at once for consolation. She sympathized with him, and then stooped to kiss the sore spot.

As soon as her lips touched his forehead, his wails ceased, and he seemed free from pain.

This commonplace example is duplicated in almost every home in the land where young children are to be found. For the most effective medicine today is not even mentioned in our U.S. pharmacopoeia, which is the physician's textbook of drugs. As you can perceive, this medicine is a mother's kiss!

You will observe that a child wishes to monopolize his mother's attention when he is hurt. If he can also grandstand before the other members of the family, so much the better. Public attention is a pleasant salve to his spirit.

When we adults are ill, we also want the spotlight, and if we are excessively catered to, we may even go to extremes.

Many adult patients are just like 2-year-old David, except they have developed into chronic wailers who want attention daily, and whose ailments grow very much worse if they aren't monopolizing the spotlight.

Pain is largely a relative matter anyway, and depends in part upon whether we focus our attention on our injury, or learn to divert our attention to other objects or ideas.

Some neurotic individuals will work themselves up into hysteria at the thought of a simple needle prick incidental to a hypodermic injection.

A needle prick is seldom more painful than a mosquito bite. If people will simply make this analogy and stoically control their emotions by steering their attention upon some other topic, they will barely notice minor aches and pains.

As a physician, I have delivered hundreds of babies. Some mothers will act like thoroughbreds, obey the doctor's orders, and thus reduce the duration of their labor and also their pain.

Other pampered neurotics, however, will scream in terror and grow hysterical. They will scratch and bite the doctor and even curse wildly. Physicians admire the fortitude and courage of the real thoroughbred, but are irritated by such cry baby antics, which actually increase the patient's pain and retard her delivery.

The modern physician may not dare be as frank with his patients as I am today, because of financial and diplomatic reasons, so I am simply voicing many of the thoughts your local physician often would like to utter.

Lack of Confidence... Liars Can Figure...

INSPIRATION COLUMN

(From "Your Life")
ATTITUDE THAT WINS—Take a look around you and count how many people have the ability to do more important things than they are doing are held back because they lack the feeling of confidence that is needed to tackle their opportunities.

Imperfectly realized abilities often mean merely a lack of confidence, for ability without confidence to use it is about as useful as half a pair of shears. The confident person works faster. He gets more fun from his work. For him, life is a holiday, not an endurance test. He has the "go-ahead" attitude that makes him venture to try what others say is impossible—and he often proves the others wrong.—Donald A. Laird.

PSYCHOLOGY—A LA BARRY-MORE — John Barrymore's famous yacht, The Infanta, was bought during his marriage to Dolores Costello. A formal christening was arranged, and at the proper moment Barrymore handed his wife a huge bottle of champagne and motioned for her to break it across the bow of the yacht. Dolores frowned as she tried to swing the bottle. "It's too heavy," she pouted. "I can't do it."

"Go on," commanded Barrymore. "Just imagine you're hitting me." Gleeftly describing the incident, the great actor concluded: "And she damn near wrecked the boat!"—Webb B. Garrison.

GUESSTWORK — A great many grievous errors can be made when we allow ourselves to be unduly influenced by numbers. Jones is a better man than Smith because his bank account has more numbers in it? Not necessarily. My car will travel 90 miles an hour; yours has a top speed of only 70. Do I have a better car? Not necessarily.

We can make even worse errors when we get into the field of statistics. We have seen beautifully drawn graphs showing the correlation between, for example, sun spots and business depressions. Perhaps in the past there has been such a correlation, but to believe with any certainty that because the sun is due to break out in a rash we are going to have another depression is guesswork, pure and simple. The statisticians' defense is usually that old saw—figures can't lie. But you know the answer to that one—liars can figure!—Joseph A. Winter.

GENIUS NEXT DOOR — Shortly after William Haddett Upson's first tractor story appeared in a popular magazine, the editor received a letter from an officer of one of the biggest tractor manufacturing companies in America. "Can you tell us," it read, "who this William Haddett Upson is? The publication of stories like this will do the tractor business a lot of good, and we would like to get in touch with him."

The editor smiled in quiet satisfaction.

Tongue in cheek, he wrote back, "If you will look at a desk at the extreme outer edge of your outside office, you will find a serious-looking young man with eyeglasses and a mop of dark hair. His name is Upson, and he is on your own payroll."—James Aldredge.

IT'S THE TOTAL EFFECT — Just as a symphony orchestra contains within itself an endless variety of instrumental combinations, so do most individuals offer us greater variety than we may suspect them of possessing. When you listen to a symphony orchestra, you listen to the whole. Your appreciation is based on total effect, not the contributing elements. Each of your friends also has his total effect—his principal theme or melody—by which he must be judged. It is not what he says or does now and then that is important. It is the melody that comes from his whole life. The inharmonies may occasionally manifest, may merely serve to give greater emphasis to the overall beauty of his life.—Thomas Dreier.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

IT is a safe bet that most people never realize the great amount of latent medical science must develop not to disease, but simply to find out how the body functions in health.

Take the matter of body temperature, for instance. Today, we all know that the normal temperature is 98.6 degrees and that there may be a perfectly normal variation of 1.8 degrees during the course of the day, with the lowest readings in the early morning and the highest in the late afternoon.

Today an English physician, Dr. Trevor H. Howell, has completed another such service and one whose results will be just as helpful. Knowing that for many years there has been some dispute as to the normal body temperature of elderly people, Dr. Howell set out to find just how much it might differ from that of adults in their prime. In all, more than 326 old men, ranging in age from 65 to 91, were studied. All were up and about and not in need of medical treatment or suffering from any illness.

In taking the temperatures, he used a thermometer certified to register within one-half a minute, and the thermometer was kept in place for this time.

He found that in many instances in elderly persons, the body temperature did not reach 95°, which was the lowest point the thermometer would register when the temperature was taken under these conditions. He thus concluded that temperatures taken this way are not accurate.

Some doctors think that in elderly persons the thermometer should be kept in place for ten minutes to get a correct reading. However, few feeble, elderly people could hold a thermometer in place for more than five minutes.

It was found that there was a variation in mouth temperatures varying from 95.2° to 102°, and in armpit temperatures from 95° to 99.4°.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.—Despite all the "retrenchment" activities that have cost so many Hollywood workers their jobs recently, the picture budget — slashing and other economic moves, David Selznick is preparing to make the highest-priced picture ever filmed, late this Fall. He'll spend millions (even more than he did on "Gone With the Wind") when he produces "The Greatest Show on Earth" in Technicolor. It will have an all-star movie cast—plus the Barnum and Bailey and Ringling Bros.

circus... The first of those Biblical recordings that Charles Laughton did for Decca is "Noah's Ark." And someone says it's so persuasive it sounds like a solution to the housing problem... Mona Freeman and Pat Neamey are in the throes of building their dream-house — their first. Some day it will be an 8 room Connecticut farmhouse type of thing. But right now they're starting with the "bare essentials"—with no den, dining room or swimming pool to their names!

APPROPOS OF NOTHING — have you ever noted how many top-filmies are from Wisconsin? The list includes Freddie March, Fred Mac Murray, Dennis Morgan, Spencer Tracy, Pat O'Brien, Don Ameche and Jack Carson. Evidently the state has more ham than it has cheese!... The critics certainly have been swinging bare brick bats at "The Babe Ruth Story." One said, "It's neither Ruth nor Truth." Another cracked, "If the Babe doesn't have a relapse after seeing the picture, he's in rugged condition." P. S. the movie, nevertheless is cleaning up at the box-office everywhere.

Arline Wayne, who once made many $88 by putting Rita Hayworth's own heartbeat onto a recording of one of his torch songs, opens a new club here on the 28th. He's putting $15,000 into refurbishing the place.

Barbara Bates, one of the prettiest starlets in Hollywood is beginning to get the break-up. She had just finished her role with Bette Davis in "June Bride" when she was handed the second feminine lead in "The House Across the Street," a newspaper yarn from the pen of W. R. Burnett. 250 Persons Attend Annual Outing of IOOF and Rebekahs

The annual outing of Vincent lodge IOOF, and Marcella Rebekah lodge and their families and friends Wednesday night was regarded as one of the outstanding events in Odd Fellowship in Spring City. The affair was held at Bonnie Brae park.

Rain dampened the outside, driving the group into the pavilion for an old-fashioned picnic basket supper, but the rain did not dampen the spirits of the picnickers.

Following the meal, the entertainment and social committees, headed by William I. Merkey and William H. Fries respectively, took over. Games and contests for the kiddies were staged, including a peanut scramble, apple race and sack race. Other contests included a cake walk for all the youngsters, a wood sawing contest, pop drinking contest and nail driving contest.

At 8:30 P. M., more than 250 persons assembled in the pavilion for an entertainment, which was opened by greetings by Edwin D. Todd, past district deputy grand master. Many grand lodge and grand encampment officers and district deputy grand masters were introduced by Past District Deputy Grand Master Frank H. Naylor. They were: Fred Burkholder, president of the Past Grand association of Southeastern Pennsylvania; J. Y. Loux, president of Middlebrook lodge; Sam York, DDGM, Philadelphia county District 6; George E. R. DDGM, Philadelphia county District 8; Lawrence Fryer, DDGM, Berks county District 3; Howard J. Hallman, DDGM, Chester county District 3; Charles Schwenk, PGM; Walter W. Leibfried, Grand scribe; Harry C. Stephens, PGM; Louis J. Mess, Grand treasurer; Frank Shannon, Grand secretary, and William O. Jones, Grand master, who brought greetings from the Grand lodge. Many lodges, including four from Chester county, were represented.

The program of entertainment included: Doc Irving, magician, and Dave Vanfield, juggler. The brass band and string band of Pennhurst State school played and sang several numbers.

Burgess Instructs Citizens on Procedure To Contact Patrol Car in Emergency

Instructions to citizens seeking to contact borough patrolmen in the patrol car, which is equipped with a two-way radio, were issued by Burgess James A. Fritz over the weekend.

In his message, Burgess Fritz emphasizes the advantage of the new system and asks co-operation in speeding messages to the patrol car.

His letter follows:
To the Citizens of Boyertown:

This article is written in the interest of the citizens of Boyertown in regard to police work and the working of your police department.

WITH THE installation of the two-way radio you now can and should have your policeman answer your call in three to five minutes.

All you must do is pick up your receiver, ask the operator for the police department, and the operator will automatically connect you with phone 13, Pottstown police department. Give all your information to the desk sergeant on duty 24 hours a day. The sergeant will transmit your message to the sending station located in Norris-town, Montgomery county.

In other words, call operator asking for the police and they will connect you to Pottstown police department, state your case, your address and town, such as:

"Police department? There's a suspicious character prowling the neighborhood at 115 North Chestnut street, Boyertown." That's all, but please don't forget to give address, name of street and town. That message will be transmitted to your Boyertown police car in one minute. (Tests have proven this time). Your officers on duty will be there in just as much time as the distance that he is from that address at time of call, roughly three to five minutes.

THIS IS ONE OF the greatest improvements in police work your borough has had in years. Please use it.

Your town is in radio communication with Pottstown, Norris-town, Quakertown, West Chester and all small communities between here and Philadelphia, including fire and ambulance vehicles in some communities.

The price of five cents per phone call for the Boyertown police transmitter is very small (6 cents for your local phone charge). If it's worth calling the police for any emergency, etc., it's worth every bit of five cents, which is all it will cost any taxpayer for better, quicker and more efficient police protection. Remember—ask operator for police department or call Pottstown 13. Explain your case, give correct address and name your town. It is now in service, at your service.

Your Burgess, JAMES A. FRITZ

Guaranteed Wage Plan Favored for Industries

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (P)—The guaranteed annual wage plan appears to have "real possibilities" in the steadier industries, a National Planning association report said today.

Any well-established company can install a properly limited plan for stabilizing its employees' annual wages but such plans might weaken the national economy "if hastily taken in large doses," the report added.

It was written for the association by Alexander Calder, president of the Union Bag and Paper corporation, and James L. Knipe, his assistant. The association is a private organization with the stated purpose of getting agriculture, business, government and labor and the professions to work together for the same objectives.

Vacationing Mercury Readers

By THE VACATION EDITOR of The Mercury

It was a beautiful day for Patrick Pimple as he lay there in the shade ... looking up through the tree leaves where the sky was as blue as the eyes of the little brunette who had had breakfast with him that morning.

The cuisine at Gold Beach lodge was fit for a king, and inexpensive too, at only $75 a day. The suites were magnificent with their rustic luxury—their fireplaces, white telephones, and rosy-cheeked maids.

Patrick Pimple loved the place. Not only did it command a stately view for miles, but its nearby surroundings were straight from heaven ... the laurel trails, the spacious lawns, the water ballets.

The lake was a mass of ultramarine. It reminded him of the beautiful young miss he had taken canoeing after lunch. He had preferred her company to the group of girls who wanted him to join their hike through the forests. He remembered the soft quality of her voice when he playfully threatened to overturn the canoe: "Patrick ... Patrick!"

Suddenly the voice boomed raucously: "PATRICK! Wake up! I called ya twice. Getcher lazy carcass in here fer supper. Think yer on vacation er sumptin'?"

"We are having a wonderful time camping here ... good weather," said Ambrose Malenke and Ronald Elliott, who give no home addresses. They're vacationing in the Poconos near Trafton. Their card shows, a Lake Wallenpaupack scene.

Beautiful Rainbow Church Ceremony Unites Miss Clara Jacob and William E. Sturges

One of the most beautiful of the midsummer weddings was the rainbow ceremony Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in Grace Lutheran church, of Miss Clara Jacob, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Jacob, 1 East Third street, and Mr. William E. Sturges Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sturges Sr., of Washington, D. C.

The double ring ceremony was performed before a large audience of relatives and friends by the Rev. Asa S. Wohlsten, pastor. Preceding the ceremony a fifteen-minute organ recital was presented by Mrs. Earl S. Yohn, with vocal selections given by Miss Betty Westler.

For the occasion the church was attractively decorated with palms and baskets of white gladiolas.

THE BRIDE was lovely in a white Chantilly lace gown over white satin styled with tight fitting bodice featuring an off the shoulder neckline with a wide bertha collar. The very full skirt boasted a bustle back, a long train and hoops. With this she wore long Chantilly lace mitts and a bride veil of silk net edged with the lace which fell from a head band of white pompons.

She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white roses with detachable orchid center and white satin streamers. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Serving as maid of honor was Miss Doris Knause, cousin of the bride, in a gown of orchid while acting as bridesmaids were Mrs. Bettie Keck Yocum in ice blue, Mrs. Annabel Jacob, sister-in-law of the bride, in maize, and Mrs. Nancy Jacob in Nile green.

ALL THE attendants gowns were of mueslin-de-swa over taffeta and were designed with light bodice, off the shoulder neckline and wide bertha collars. The full hoop skirts contained bustle backs. Long matching gloves with shoulder length veils of net with a band of pompons and baby marigolds completed the costumes. All carried old fashioned bouquet of roses, pompons and marigolds in contrasting colors and matching ribbons.

The best man was Mr. Carl Sturges, brother of the bridegroom, while acting as ushers were: Mr. Richard Sturges, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. John Jacob and Mr. Arthur Jacob, brothers of the bride.

THE MOTHER of the bride was gowned in aqua faille with white accessories and white rose corsage while the mother of the bridegroom chose a gray and white sheer with white accessories and white rose corsage.

A reception followed the wedding in the social rooms of the church. The bride is a graduate of State Teachers college and taught for three years in Pottstown elementary schools. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Maryland and is employed by the Interstate Commerce commission in Washington, D. C.

With the bride traveling in a figured jersey dress of simple lines, white accessories and bridal orchid, the couple left immediately following the reception in plane for a three week honeymoon in Bermuda. They will be at home in their newly furnished apartment in Alexandria, Va., after Sept. 5.

Frances E. Barbour Becomes Bride of Mr. Russell Good

Zion's Lutheran church, Bonnie Brae, was the scene of the double ring ceremony which united Miss Frances Elizabeth Barbour and Mr. Russell William Good in marriage over the weekend.

Miss Barbour is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Barbour, Phoenixville, while Mr. Good is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Good, 422 Second avenue, Royersford.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Oscar Schlessman Jr., pastor, officiating before an altar decorated with gladiolas and palms.

Miss Barbour was attired in a white butcher linen two piece dress featuring eyelet collar and cuffs. She wore a white crownless hat and a corsage of red roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Joan Downs, of Berwyn, was attired in a blue butcher linen two piece dress with yellow accessories. Her corsage consisted of yellow roses.

Best man was Mr. Harold Good, brother of the bridegroom.

A luncheon was held at the home of the bride following the ceremony.

When the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip in the Poconos for one week, the bride wore a gray gabardine suit with red accessories.

Upon their return they will reside at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Rhubarb sauce is delicious served over sponge cake and topped with whipped cream. Use brown sugar instead of white in cooking the rhubarb for a taste change.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Every hand important. Rubber enthusiasts, who have never played in tournaments, often do not know the ways of scoring a match between two teams of four. One is the cumulative method whereby the total net contract points of the team's two pairs are compared with those of the opposing team's two pairs. The other is called the board-a-match method. In this, every deal is as important as every other deal, since your team gets one match point for scoring better on a particular deal than the other fellows, half a point for tying on it and zero for losing it.

combination of Mrs. Wilkinson Wagar of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. A. M. Sobel, Simon Rossant and Peter Leventritt, all of New York. To be more particular, it was the bidding of Mr. Rossant in the North, opposite Mr. Leventritt, that swung the balance.

Since both declarers made their contracts, the redoubled spade slam produced more points for North, by far, than the undoubled diamond slam gave to South at Table 1. To be exact, it was 1870 for the spade against 920 for the diamond, a swing of 650.

In match point play, however, that big margin gave the winners of the deal no more match points than if they had won by a mere ten. Some other deal on which one pair got 110 for making 2 spades, worth 60 plus 50 for part-score bonus, whereas the opponents made 100 for setting some contract a trick, would produce the same single match point earnings through a big swing.

Tomorrow's Problem

After the club 3 lead, how should South seek the largest possible number of tricks on this deal, and how can West thwart him?

A's Deal Yanks Double Setback; Indians Annex Twin Bill

72,468 WATCH BOMBERS LOSE TWO 5-3 GAMES

Twin-Killing Enables Mackmen to Keep Pace With Cleveland Indians.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics swept a double-header from the New York Yankees today, winning the opener, 5-3, in ten innings and the nightcap also by a 5-3 count to move back into second place in the American league pennant race. Four singles enabled the A's to score three runs and win the opener in overtime while Mike Herrera's bases loaded triple highlighted a four-run second-inning rally that enabled the A's to take the second game.

The largest Yankee stadium crowd of the year, 72,468, watched the Mackmen regain second place by a full game over the Boston Red Sox, who split with Washington. The A's trail the pace-setting Cleveland Indians by a length and a half while the Yankees, in fourth place, fell five games behind the tribe.

Joe DiMaggio sent the opener into the overtime with a two-run homer in the ninth before the A's won in overtime.

A four-run rally in the second settled the nightcap. Guerra's triple with the bases full was the only hit of the frame and the Athletic catcher scored on DiMaggio's wild throw. Sam Chapman singled home the winners' other marker in the fourth.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies swept a doubleheader from the New York Giants today, 8-1 and 7-5, with Kenny Heintzelman missing a no-hitter in the opener because of Whitey Lockman's seventh inning triple. Ed Heusser, hurrying in relief for starter Dutch Leonard, was credited with the nightcap triumph.

Heintzelman, winning his sixth game, pitched near-perfect ball in the first six innings. Only two Manager Leo DiRocho's Giants reached first base—both on walks. Kenny issued one other walk.

Lockman slapped his triple deep to left to start the seventh inning then scampered home on Sid Gordon's long fly.

45,286 Fans Watch Tribe Maintain Safe Lead; Boudreau Paces Attacks

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Bob Lemon pitched his seventh shutout and sixteenth victory before 45,286 persons today as the Cleveland Indians, American league leaders, swept a double-header from the Chicago White Sox, 6-2 and 8-0. Bob Feller gained his twelfth victory in the opener before Lemon held the late-place Chicagoans runless on a yield of seven singles.

Feller won his first complete game since July 11 with a yield of 11 hits. The Indians gave him a 3-0 working edge in the first inning when Larry Doby pounded Bill Wright for a base-clearing double. Dale Mitchell and Manager Lou Boudreau used singles to drive in two more Cleveland runs in the sixth.

Mitchell's double led to Cleveland's last run in the seventh before Feller retired in favor of Oral Grove, who pitched the last two innings.

Doby also gave Lemon his first run in the second game. He singled Boudreau home in the fourth for Cleveland's 1-0 edge.

The Indians made it a rout against Joe Haynes with three runs in the eighth and four more in the ninth, when Haynes retired in favor of Frank Papias.

Boudreau paced Cleveland's swarming with two triples and five singles in 10 trips during the two games. Jim Hegán, Cleveland catcher, hit three doubles in the second game.

DETROIT RALLIES In 9th Inning To Nip Browns

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Singles by Hal Wagner and Eddie Mayo accounted for two runs in the top of the ninth and the Detroit Tigers downed the St. Louis Browns 3 to 1 today. Cliff Fanning and Freddie Hutchinson battled to a 1-1 tie until the two singles, plus a double by Hutchinson and a single by Dick Wakefield broke up the game.

The Tigers took a one-run lead in the first inning on a double by Hoyt Hersh with Eddie Lake on base. The Browns tied the contest in the third on three singles.

CITY LOOP Playoffs Start Tonight; Coffee Cup Takes on Doeher's

Doehler's Diecasters, 1947 City-Industrial league champions, start defending that title tonight when they face a strong Coffee Cup aggregation in the first game of the semi-final playoffs on Franklin Field.

Tonight's game, the first of a three-game series between the two teams, will start at 6:15 o'clock.

The Coffee Cup finished its regular season with record of 11 victories and three defeats, good enough to take first place in the standings, and will be slightly favored to beat the Diecasters tonight.

The defending champs finished in a tie for second place with Flag's each team winning nine while losing five. Flag's then won the flip of the coin for second place.

BOTH TEAMS have plenty of power in the lineup and will bring out the big bats for tonight's game. Leading Doehler's will be Nels Weidenbaugh, top batter in the circuit who is currently sporting a .461 average. Other sluggers such as John Acker, Bill Abright, Bob Yerger, and Dick Hallman. Luppachino also has a large pitching staff which includes Coccie, Lefty Rhoads, Midge Takacs, Vic DiGiosia and Chick Hawk.

After tonight's game, Doehler's and the Coffee Cup will meet in the second game of their semi-final series Friday night. If a third game is needed it will be played next week.

Tomorrow, Flag's second place team will take on fourth-place UAW in the first game of their series.

GEORGE FONDER WINS FEATURE AT SANATOGA TRACK

George Fonder gave Ken Hickey his second consecutive triumph at the Sanatoga speedway as he piloted the latter's Offenhauser to an impressive victory in the 25-lap Norristown handicap last night before 6500 fans.

Shorty McAndrews drove Hickey's Ford racer to victory in the past week's feature race at Sanatoga.

FONDER OPENED last night's AAA-sanctioned feature auto racing program at Sanatoga by driving to an easy win in the first eight-lap qualifying heat. His time of 2:35.52 couldn't be matched by Marshman, who finished second.

The veteran Lansdale driver started the feature race in 11th position, but wasted little time in passing the Ford cars which were given the front spots. A field of 14 drivers started the feature event.

Fonder and his driving partner, McAndrews, will return to Sanatoga Wednesday night for another racing program. Some of the AAA's best drivers will be here to challenge the famous Hickey driving team.

Amvets and Ridge Split Doubleheader

The Pottstown Amvets maintained their two and a half game lead in the Southern division of the Tri-County League yesterday by dividing a doubleheader with Ridge at Ridge. Galen Royer held Ridge to three hits in the opener as the Amvets chalked up their 12th victory by a 2-0 score. Ridge came back to hand the Amvets their third setback, 9-0, as Bob Yerger blanked the Amvets with four hits.

Ridge, by dividing the twin bill, held on to second place in the Southern division.

In other Southern division games yesterday, the Quoit club swept a twin bill from Knauertown at Knauertown, 7-5 and 11-2.

TIM BATTORF and Dave Staverosky went the distance in each game for the Quoit club. Staverosky turned in a four-hit performance in the nightcap.

Stowe AC, current leaders in the Northern division, could do no better than an even split yesterday's doubleheader with Ringling Hill at Ringling Rocks park.

The Cubs turned back the leaders, 7-5, in the first game, but Stowe took the nightcap, 5-0. Carl Testa pitched no-hit ball for the first five innings in the second game.

At Graterford yesterday, Graterford gained on the leaders by sweeping two games from Kinsey AA. Carl Hanson's seven-hit pitching gave the home team a 6-2 win in the opener and a 13-hit assault on two Kinsey pitchers gave Graterford a 10-1 triumph in the nightcap.

At Chichester, AC forfeited two games to Limerick AA in other scheduled tussles yesterday. The doubleheader was scheduled to be played at Limerick.

Harley Family Holds 41st Annual Meeting Near Harleysville

Two families, the Harley's and the Price's, came to America 229 years ago on the same boat from Prussia. Both families settled in and around what is now known as Harleysville.

The Harley faction held its 41st annual reunion Saturday afternoon at the Kline Meeting house grounds outside Harleysville, while the Price family plans its 32d reunion next Saturday at Vernfield.

About 60 persons attended the reunion, most of which was devoted to financial discussions. Officers of the association presented short talks. A picnic supper featured the session.

W. S. Price, Pottstown RD 5, borough electrician and secretary-treasurer of the Price Homestead association, expects to have at least 200 persons attending the gathering from all points of the country next Saturday. At least 40 from this area are expected.

THE REUNION will be held at the Price farm, partly owned by the association, which was purchased from the William Penn family in 1720. It is the oldest farm owned by people of one family name in America.

A trading company bus will leave city hall at 1 p. m. and return from the Price homestead at 4 p. m. The reunion's formal program is scheduled to begin at 2 p. m.

A special feature of the program will be an address by Grace Z. Carey, from the Philadelphia Electric company, who will speak on "Cooking on the Modern Range."

Price advised that those wishing to drive their automobiles should drive on Route 422, turn left at the Limerick hotel on Schwenkville road. The trail from that point on will be blazed.

The afternoon's program will include orchestra selections, recitations, juvenile songfests, addresses and prizes to the youngest and oldest members present and for the descendant coming the longest distance.

office and, finally, to the Soviet embassy itself.

A strong police detail has maintained constant guard over her room since she entered the institution the past Thursday.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Kosenkina rested comfortably last night but that otherwise her condition remained unchanged.

A hospital bulletin at 8 p. m. said she still was on the critical list but "resting comfortably."

THE FEDERAL government assumed protective custody over the injured teacher yesterday when the House committee on un-American activities subpoenaed her as a witness in its investigation of alleged Communist spy operations in this country. Her convalescence is expected to take about three months.

Service of the subpoena brought Mrs. Kosenkina under the full protection of the government.

Almost at the same moment the subpoena was being served, Russian Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin was closeted with Under-Secretary of State Robert A. Lovett in Washington, demanding that the teacher be restored to Soviet control. His demand was rejected.

The tense tug-of-war over the woman's custody whipped off in a new direction today when a New York congressman urged that all Soviet consulate officials in New York city be detained in this country to determine whether they have been guilty of any crime in connection with the Kosenkina case.

In a telegram to Secretary of State Marshall, Rep. Donald L. Tootle, Democrat, suggested that a guard be stationed at the Canadian and Mexican borders to prevent departure of the attaches pending a full investigation of the incident.

her dead on arrival. He tentatively named the cause of death a heart attack.

Mrs. Guest had suffered from a heart condition since 1939 when an attack kept her in bed for a week. Her son, John, believed exertion the past Thursday, when she sickled grass in her garden, may have weakened her for the final attack.

She had always been an avid gardener, he said. Her home, which she and her husband have occupied since 1915, is bounded on three sides by five beds of flowers, all neatly cared for.

It was her only hobby. Married 55 years, she was a housewife throughout.

MRS. GUEST was born and educated in Lower Pottsgrove township and, except for six years when her husband worked for an electric plant in Jeddo, spent all her life in Pottstown. Mr. Guest was once Pottstown borough electrician.

Besides her husband and son John, 359 North Charlotte street, she is survived by another son, Ralph, of 605 North Evans street, one grandson, one great grandson, four brothers, Howard, Aaron, Edward and William, all of Reading, and a sister, Mrs. Lillian Bryan, Reading.

Funeral arrangements will be made today.

NAVY OFFICER —

Soviet custody in an international tug-of-war.

Holding an extraordinary Sunday afternoon news conference, McDermott recalled how the Moscow radio early today reported that Lt. Dreher, who is now in the office of the chief of naval operations here, left Moscow May 1 after allegedly being caught receiving espionage information on April 23.

MOSCOW ASSERTED this information was presented to Dreher, who was an assistant naval attaché in Moscow, while secret police looked on, by a Russian customs official mysteriously identified only as "E."

The Moscow radio also claimed that it had a direct quotation from Dreher, admitting that he received secret information which he wrote in a notebook.

Furthermore, McDermott related, Moscow claimed that the evidence against the young officer was so indisputable that the embassy didn't even try to contest it and complied with a Soviet foreign office request for the immediate departure of Dreher.

What actually happened, McDermott said, was that Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith told Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinski that the alleged espionage meeting between "E" and Lieutenant Dreher "had been arranged by the Soviet authorities" and that the evidence of frameup lay in the fact that the agents of the MVD were on hand to see what happened.

Here is McDermott's story:

"ON APRIL 23, 1948, the United States embassy learned that Lt. Robert Dreher, assistant naval attaché, had been apprehended by agents of the ministry of internal affairs (MVD) on charges of receiving unauthorized information from a Soviet customs official. Lieutenant Dreher had been released after several hours' detention and had reported this incident to the ambassador (Smith)."

"ON APRIL 26, Mr. Vishinski, deputy foreign minister, sent for the United States ambassador and informed him that because of this incident the Soviet government requested that Lieutenant Dreher leave the Soviet Union at once."

"The ambassador pointed out to Mr. Vishinski that Lt. Dreher had gone to the Moscow customs house at the request of the Soviet customs official in connection with shipments of embassy property from Odessa where Lt. Dreher had previously been stationed; and that the presence of agents of the MVD on the scene would indicate that this interview had been arranged by the Soviet authorities."

"The ambassador added to Mr. Vishinski that Lt. Dreher having completed his two-year tour of duty, was under routine orders to return to the United States and had applied for an exit visa ten days before and that in the circumstances the embassy would expedite his departure from the Soviet Union."

Five Men Killed in B-17 Bomber Crash-Fire

Parts of the B17 bomber that crashed and burned at the fair grounds near Berryton, Kan., are shown after they struck a nearby farm. Five of the plane's seven crew members were killed. The two survivors were taken to a hospital at Topeka where authorities said their condition was fair. Air Force officials said that the big craft was on a routine training flight when it crashed.

tentatively as Glenn Davis, Reno fireman.

Vlad Ratay, superintendent of Washoe hospital, reported 115 persons were treated since the blast occurred at 12:55 p. m. (Pottstown time) in the wooden and brick building which housed several shops, a cafe and a rooming house. Fifteen others were treated at St. Mary's hospital and another seven were sent to the Veterans' hospital.

AN UNDETERMINED number of persons slightly injured were treated at an emergency first aid booth set up quickly near the blast scene. Of the 115 treated at Washoe hospital, 21 were in serious condition.

Hundreds of Reno residents, including scores of housewives, responded quickly to urgent broadcasts for blood donors. Blood was accepted from 35 volunteers whose types matched those of the victims.

Wesley Reed, a 38-year-old clothing salesman who spent two years in a Japanese prison camp in the Philippines, suffered body injuries after joining two firemen in an unsuccessful attempt to rescue Fire Chief Hobson who was trapped by a collapsed wall in the basement of the building.

"Water was coming in fast through broken pipes and we had to wade knee deep," he said later at the hospital. "We were trying to reach the chief when another brick wall collapsed. It hit my stomach and knocked me down, but I thought I was okay."

"I got up and walked out and sat on a stretcher. One of the fellows called me over to take some oxygen. I started to take it and that was the last I remembered."

The fire was under control but smoldering, in late afternoon.

THE SPECTATORS had gathered to watch the fire in a one-story commercial building when the unexplained explosion occurred. The front of the building was blown out. The fire then spread to the Santa Fe hotel on one side and the Mandarin cafe on the other. Both were damaged.

The fire did not reach a rooming house above the cafe but many occupants of the rooming house were among the injured. Presumably they were overcome by smoke.

An eye-witness, Bill Henley, a Reno Gazette reporter, gave this version of the explosion:

"I was standing in the doorway of the Mizpah hotel across the street. The fire had been burning for half an hour or so. Then the explosion, which seemed slow moving, came from the back of the building and blew the front out. Debris was thrown all the way across the street, breaking plate glass windows. I almost threw me off my feet. I noticed several people turned their backs and were out in the back of the neck as they attempted to flee."

"Just before the blast, I noticed a terrific fire was blazing in the back of the building."

Another eye-witness, Carl F. McCuiston, 50, a Los Angeles truck driver, reported:

"Three firemen chopped in the front door of the building down stairs. As they broke through, smoke started to pour out and sud-

Two Men Pay Costs For Family Feuds

Two Pottstown men, accused of starting family feuds, were given final hearings Saturday after Justice of the Peace Raymond C. Kelley, of the Second ward, had given the men an opportunity to effect separations from the families.

John Kozak, of 456 South street, paid a $10 fine and costs on charges of disorderly conduct and assault and battery. He was accused by his wife, Frances, of pushing and striking her and Rose Austin, 725 Walnut street, while they were visiting the Austin home the past Aug. 6.

William H. Smale paid the costs of the hearing on a charge of disorderly conduct and chasing his son, William P. 23, with a hammer the past Aug. 3. The hearing had been continued until the father made arrangements to leave the home.

A hearing for Earl Hamel, Pottstown RD 3, accused of brandishing a knife at his wife, remained in continuance while the couple attempted to reach a settlement.

In addition to the air lift transports, the "western" air fighter strength also is being built up in Germany. The first 17 of 82 U. S. jet fighters which will be based in this country landed at Wiesbaden last night. The planes—P-80 Shooting Stars—arrived by ship at Glasgow, Scotland, earlier this month and flew to Germany from England.

The remainder of the group, which will be stationed at Furstentumbruck, Bavaria, is expected to arrive in small sections throughout the week.

Chester County Autoist Posts Bail for Hearing

FARMER KILLED —

Murray was driving the tractor there, and went over to investigate.

THE FATHER-IN-LAW neared the tractor, heard a groan and broke into a run. On the ground near the place where the tractor came to a halt was Murray.

Nyman and Murray's son, John, carried him to a farm truck, and the son raced to Pottstown hospital with his father. Murray died on the way.

The crushed chest and slightly less severe injuries to the head indicated that Murray had been run over partially by the tractor. Whether he had been knocked under the wheels by the long moving arm was problematical.

A certificate of accidental death was issued by Winslow J. Rushong, coroner of Montgomery county, since it was in this county that Murray was pronounced dead.

THE HUSBAND of Esther (Nymman) Murray, he was born in East Nantmeal township, a son of the late Wesley and Emma (Albright) Murray.

Surviving are his wife and son, a brother, Harvey, of South Pottstown, and two sisters, Bertha, wife of Lawrence Murray, and Miss Sadie Murray, both of 420 May street.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home in Parkerford. Officiating will be the Rev. Charles Jared, Pughstown. Interment will be made in Pughstown Baptist cemetery.

Locomotives Collide, Cause Freight Wreck

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 15 (P) — A freight train wreck, blamed onto the collision of two locomotives, today injured three crew members, one of them seriously.

Sheriff Roy Hardaker said the two engines, which had been pulling the doubleheader train, collided a mile and a half northeast of here on a Pennsylvania railroad branch line. They derailed each other and about 15 freight cars.

In Culver Union hospital here, Thomas Harris of Terre Haute, Ind., fireman on the second engine, was reported in "very serious" condition.

Two other crew members, less severely hurt, were LaVern Stepp and E. J. Giffel, also of Terre Haute. The hospital said they were in "fair" condition.

Firestone Picnic At Hershey Park Attracts 5000

Approximately 5000 Firestone employees and their families from all over the state crowded into Hershey park Saturday for an afternoon of fun and frolic.

"We bought the park from 1 to 5 o'clock," said C. E. Heitman, personnel manager for the local plant. Under this system, children could take as many rides on the amusements as they wished, and indications were that they took advantage of the opportunity.

Traveling by private automobile, the employees engaged in a wide variety of contests, sports, and colorful parades.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED dollars in prizes were awarded for the winners of balloon, chicken, three-legged and sack races, as well as for guessing contests, novelty events, and a baby parade. Activities for all age groups from infants to adults were arranged.

Gate prizes included a deep freeze refrigerator, set of auto tires, radio, yaffle iron, and other appliances. Cameras, bats, balls, and money were also given out.

Described as "elaborate," the event was more successful than the past year's picnic, according to Heitman.
